Beyond DVRs and NVRs: Video Management System

Source: Submitted by Milestone Systems | Date:01/14/2009

Decoupling the hardware from the software reveals the heart of the matter: open platform IP video management software is the key to an optimal, flexible, cost-efficient and long-term system.

One of the big drawbacks of the traditional surveillance world is the proprietary systems that have left so many customers with out-of-date surveillance technology. Choosing just a single DVR or NVR company would lead to limited product range for future expansions and integrations.

No one manufacturer alone is able to keep up with the pace of innovation across the full spectrum of security technology.

Leave your comment and key in your basic profile and 'Validated code'. Then click  and your comment will be displayed at the end of article with others.
